HAWAIIAN COMMENTS ON RECENT POLITICAL CONVENTIONS

Newspapers in Editorials Give Advice to the Hawaiian Electorate

With the close of the Republican, Democratic and Home Rule county conventions, the Hawaiian newspapers, editorially commented on the work of the delegates during their deliberations in the conventions.

Some of the newspapers blame the Hawaiian delegates for not standing together and working unitedly. They write that if the Hawaiians had stuck together, as they had publicly announced before the sitting of the conventions, they could have accomplished much; but, failure on their part to stand firm on their convictions gave the planters and businessmen opportunity to get their candidates nominated for the legislative and county tickets.

The Kuokoa Home Rule, Chas. K.

Notley's political organ, said that the Republican ticket, especially that of the legislature, consists of men who are interested in the sugar and commercial business in the Territory.

The Nupepa Kuokoa, laughs at the Democratic delegates, who "acted like small dogs" during the convention.

The Hawaii Holomua, John W. Wise's organ, urges upon the people to vote for Prince Kuhio as their spokesman, and, further urges them to eliminate feelings of animosity in order that the Republican party may be successful in the coming campaign.

Following are the translations, in part, from the Hawaiian newspapers. Translation from Kuokoa Home Rule, dated September 16, 1912—Sugar Planters and Merchants Are Successful.

The majority of those who were nominated for Senators, Representatives and Supervisors for the county of Honolulu are in support of the sugar planters and merchants. They are not to blame for their nomination; for they ran for the offices with a view to protecting their interests, politically. Although there were more Hawaiian delegates in the convention, they did not stand firmly on their conviction. On Thursday night they revolutionized the whole thing and disregarded their own ticket.

Out of the representatives of the Fourth district, four of them were renominated and two new nominees. From the Fifth, four were renominated and two new candidates. All of them are now coming before the people with bunches of bananas in their hands, asking you to elect them.

Say, do not forget about the destruction of bananas and other plants by order of the Board of Health. These people, acting under the authority of the Board of Health, deliberately entered your premises and destroyed your bananas and other valuable plants. Many shed tears when they saw their plants destroyed unlawfully. The Hawaiians were also deprived of their wool, the wailines wept on the streets, on this account.

The Republican Legislature was in session then; but, the lawmakers, whose authority then was greater than the laws of the land, dared not interfere with the action of the Board of Health. The money of the public were spent foolishly, leaving only two thousand dollars in the treasury.

It is expected that these candidates will come before the people with promises which they will not fulfill, if elected.

Why are the sugar planters entering the political arena now? Here is J. M. Dowsett, owner of Waianae Sugar Plantation; George F. Renton, manager of Ewa Plantation, and S. A. Kaleiopi, who is not connected with the sugar interests. We have nothing to say about him.

Harry Baldwin of Paumotu and H. P. 'enhailow, of the Wailuku Sugar Company, have also been nominated for Senators from Maui. We call the candidates for representatives "Hilo grass, suitable for horse feed." Generally, laws follow the sugar planters and merchants.

Translated from Nupepa Kuokoa, dated September 27, 1912.

In the recent conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties, the delegates present tried their best to have their candidates for offices nominated.

The Kuokoa is at a loss to know, however, how the Kuhio forces, which apparently had control of the Republican county convention, went down to defeat, and the businessmen's ticket won out in the end.

The Kuokoa extends its congratulations to those who have been nominated for the county offices, because it believes they will do what is just to the general public.

As evidenced by the result of the Republican convention, the Hawaiians are only strong in talking and weak in work; the faction which seemed weak and helpless in the beginning won out its purpose in the end.

This same result marked the Democratic convention where it was presumably thought that those opposing the candidates who ignored the party, had control of the situation.

The same thing happened in the Democratic convention, because those who were prepared to make a desperate fight in the convention, with a view to opposing the officials who ignored the party, were snowed under. They barked like the little dogs before the convention was called to order; but it took only a little work for a bulldog to make a noise, when the little fellows scattered and disappeared in great excitement.

The Kuokoa would suggest that every one from now on, should do and work together in harmony, with a view to elevating and bettering the general conditions in the public.

Translation from Hawaii Holomua, dated September 25, 1912.

We urge upon the people to continue to adore Prince Kuhio by continually sending him as our spokesman. We also urge upon the people to cast aside all feelings of animosity, and to concentrate our thoughts toward making the campaign a success.

Give the Prince this time more votes than he ever had before.

Desha's Newspaper.

The Hoku o Hawaii, Rev. S. L. Desha's newspaper, announces its readiness to support Prince Kuhio, as Hawaii's Delegate to Congress. The Hoku, editorially, says in part:

In the past, the Hoku supported Prince Kuhio as Delegate to Congress, and that it will ever continue to support him for that position in Washington. This is due to the fact that he (Kuhio) has always protected the interests of the poor, whose franchise has always been perpetuated in Hawaii.

STAG SOCIAL STARTS Y.M.C.A. WORK FOR YEAR

They're off! Last night's stag open house at the Y. M. C. A. was the crack of the pistol for the starting of the year's work. It was a good start, and everybody had a good time. From seven o'clock until after ten the association was filled with men and boys, each doing his share toward making the first social event of the year a success. Kaa's orchestra played in the music room and in the lobby during the evening. There were baseball games, wrestling matches and specialty stunts in the gymnasium, and the gallery was crowded with interested spectators.

One of the most interesting features of the evening was the wrestling match between Messrs. Searles and Howes. Searles was much the heavier and stronger man and had to hold back a little at times, but Howes, though twenty-seven pounds lighter, knew the game thoroughly, and pulled off a number of tricks which greatly amused the audience. The match was purely exhibition and not for points.

The baseball game between the business men and the seniors resulted in a score of one to four in favor of the seniors.

A short meeting was held in Cooke Hall during the evening. It was opened by two selections on the mandolin by Ernest Kaul, and following this short talk were made by Messrs. Killam, Saper, Larimer and Lau on the association's plans for the coming year.

Light refreshments were served during the evening by the social committee.

LECTURE ON BURNS
BY DOCTOR SINCLAIR

Last night the Honolulu Scottish Thistle Club, in its cosy rooms in the Alexander Young Hotel, was treated to a paper on Robert Burns of more than ordinary scope and ability by Dr. A. N. Sinclair, Chief Peter Tosh presided with his accustomed grace and alluring tact, introducing the lecturer in a happy manner and after the reading taking part with great enthusiasm in the discussion of the topic. Phases of the Scottish bard's life and work were presented by Dr. Sinclair, which were partly new to his hearers, and the treatment he gave to all points was markedly original. As he said, replying to congratulations, he touched but lightly on biographical details and produced few quotations from the writings of Burns, because he presumed that these things would be familiar ground to the audience. Several members contributed remarks and songs, and the meeting concluded at 10:15 with the Scotch doxology, "Auld Lang Syne" sung by all with hands joined.

Big Remnant Sale

THE closing out of Dress Goods which we commenced on the first of the present month, has resulted in a large accumulation of Short Ends. These are being measured up and marked for a final clearance, to begin on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1st

This will be the Greatest Remnant Sale we have ever held, and probably the last, as we will have no more Dress Materials (excepting white) when this stock is gone. The Remnants will consist of short ends of SILKS, WOOL GOODS, WHITE and COLORED WASH GOODS.

We require the room, and as soon as we can get to it we are going to make some extensive alterations in the store before showing our Holiday Line.

It will be a big saving to take advantage of this Great Remnant Sale, commencing at 8 o'clock next Tuesday morning.
